

No Evidence In Bunkhouse Fires, Says Sheriff John Egloff

Investigation into the fire which destroyed the Hancock County Jail, Sheriff John Egloff said today there was no evidence in the case of seven buildings at State 43 early Monday morning. Egloff late yesterday said the case is still being investigated. The burned building had frequently been termed "house of security" by members of the press and complaints had been made to Governor White of the building's safety. Egloff said he was waiting on a subpoena to close the case. He said he would not hazard a guess as to who might be responsible for the fire, but that it did not look like a "pretty" fire. The burned building and tourist cabins owned by Eli Burrow and operated by Mrs. Katherine Burrow, and the County Line Club, owned by Eli Burrow and operated by Mrs. Katherine Burrow, were among the buildings destroyed. The County Line Club, owned by Eli Burrow and operated by Mrs. Katherine Burrow, was a popular resort for tourists. COAST ELECTRIC HEARS TALK BY HIGHWAY PATROL

Attending Coast Electric's regular monthly Safety Meeting were Asst. Inspector Archie Fairley and Patrolman George Harper of the Mississippi Highway Patrol. The two officers outlined the rules and regulations affecting the operation of the Association's fleet of vehicles, and after an interesting question and answer session they inspected the fleet of vehicles. Noting that in addition to the two-way radio equipment, each truck was equipped with fire extinguishers, flags and flares and first aid kits, the officers congratulated Coast Electric personnel on the equipment, pointing out that they were equipped and able to give considerable assistance to the general public as well as themselves. It was noted that Coast Electric's fleet of 15 vehicles traveled 259,195 miles in the last 12 months without an accident of any kind. In fact, no accident had been experienced since 1950, and during the 3 year period nearly 3/4 million miles had been logged without an accident.

BELL PLAY TO HAVE CIVIC PREMIERE

Preliminary arrangements have now been made for the premiere performance at the Civic Theatre in New Orleans of the play "Elaine" by Doris Bell of this city. Laurence Oden, Director of the Theatre of Music of New Orleans, announced that the play would go into production in the spring, and that work on the sets and costumes would get underway shortly after the first of the year. "Elaine," a play of fine literary qualities and dramatic sweep, is based on the tragic Lancelot-Elaine affair and has a tremendous supporting cast. Dr. Oden, well known for his work in dramatic music, is now composing the incidental music for "Elaine," which is scheduled to go into rehearsal immediately after the Theatre's presentation of "The Mikado."

TO BE STUDIED BY LEGISLATURE

A special session of the Legislature opened Tuesday, Nov. 3, in Jackson. The session was called to study the equalization of school facilities in Mississippi. Thirty-one bills to equalize education and finance were drawn up by 18 legislators authorized by the 1932 Legislature. The state feels that its position on equalization would be strengthened if equalization of facilities for white and negro schools were realized. Most Mississippi leaders and many negroes feel the state is not ready to wipe out segregation in schools. To bring negro schools on a par with white schools, Mississippi must spend $100 million in the next twenty years, legislators estimated. To finance the program the special legislative session will be asked to authorize three major tax increases: a one cent increase in the State sales tax, a one cent per pack increase in cigarette taxes, and an increase in use tax of two to three per cent. Yesterday the legislators began pouring over the 25 enabling and administrative measures in the broad new $56,000,000 program. Some members of the committee said that it will not urge the passage of all the tax measures.

Main administrative proposals of the program call for a minimum teachers salary scheduled for teachers of both races; reorganization of all schools for teachers of both races; creation of a state commission to administer construction which would be done with 75 per cent state funds; reorganization of all school districts and consolidation where ordered by the state commission which would administer the construction program; reorganization of all school districts and consolidation where ordered by the state commission which would administer the construction program; reorganization of all school districts and consolidation where ordered by the state commission which would administer the construction program. The House threw aside yesterday a move by Representative Harry Applebaum, Yazoo County, to have the one-day-old special session adjourned, voting 108 to 11 against suspension of the rules to consider his motion. Wednesday the lawmakers sent to Governor White their first bill—an appropriation of $110,000 to pay legislators for the special session at least for three weeks. The Senate passed the house measure without debate or opposition. A request was made to the legislature by Gov. White Wednesday to provide funds to pay off notes made during the last year to make up deficits in the State medical education loan commission at Columbia Training School. The medical loan body had over $18,000 in 1952 and the Columbia Training School had an $11,600 deficit.

Lions Halloween Party Saturday Well Attended

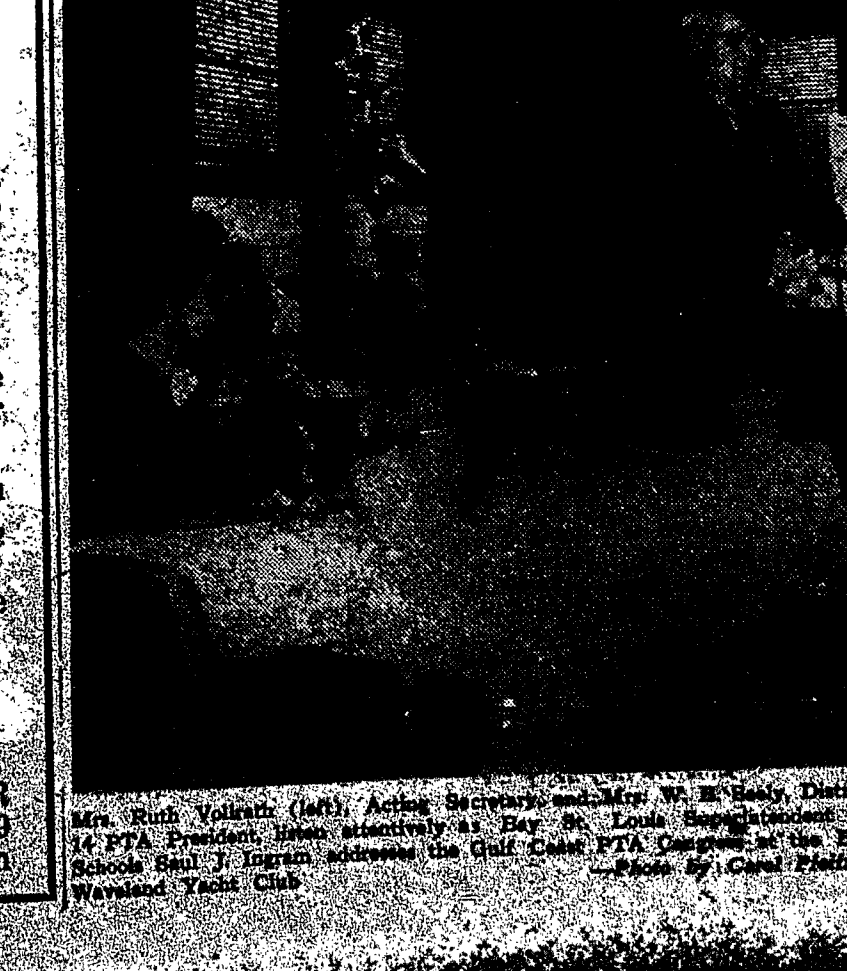

The Lions Club held their second annual Halloween party for children last Saturday evening at City Hall Grounds. Chairman Warren Carver of the committee estimated that over 400 children and parents were at the big party, where "Golden Lady," the world-famous horse of Bay St. Louis was presented by her owner and trainer, Bill Lizana. The golden wonder horse, went through an extensive and difficult routine of tricks that were most astonishing and pleasing to her small-fry audience. The Lions also held several amusing and rewarding contests, and held costume judging in eight classifications. The club is now planning a big city-wide Christmas party for the colored children.

Senator Stennis believes that the UN should continue and should have our wholehearted support. He stated that he had, during a visit to this body, seen a small delegation from darkest Africa come forward and lodge a complaint against Great Britain, and that England had to give forth and make answer. He said he knew of other place where the small and weak could bring out a complaint against the large and strong. He spoke, too, of the slow time that the UN had been functioning, and said that we should give it time to grow, and that already it had made great strides in its efforts to maintain peace among the nations. In speaking of the NATO, the Senator said he was terribly disappointed.

LITTLE THEATRE NEWLY PAINTED

Fresh paint has the Bay St. Louis Little Theatre Building gleaming these days.

Still the "little red barn," the theatre is dazzling in its new make-up, and will present a pretty picture to the patrons who will attend the closing show this week.

The presentation of Noel Coward's popular comedy "Blythe Spirit" was a happy choice for the last play of the season. It will close the current production year on a high note of hilarity.

Excellent casting and good direction assure an evening of entertainment for the audience, and the theatre should be filled for the three evenings of the performance.

Since 1946, when the theatre was first founded by a group of twenty-four people, it has forged steadily ahead. Hard work and careful selections of plays have been the life blood of this organization, which is a credit to the community.

Fifteen teachers from Jones County public schools took a turn as guest "students" of the Gulf Refining Company's Zone 10 production office in Laurel as that city observed its third Business Education Day October 23. Business firms and some 600 teachers participated in "B-E Day" under the sponsorship of Laurel's Chamber of Commerce. High point of the day for Gulf's guests was a field trip to the large drilling rig with which the company is seeking to confirm its discovery of Mississippi's deepest commercial oil production some 5000 feet below the gas producing sands of the seven-year-old Soso field. ELEMENTARY ACTIVITIES

Mrs. Harriet's Fifth Grade had charge of assembly Friday morning. The entire group sang "Halloween." The play presented was "The Fairy Witch." Characters were: Princess, Gloria Meyers; Woodcutter, Leo Bermond; Witch, Gail Higgins; Cat, Carol Heitzmann; Ghost, Jimmy Gibbs; Little Pumpkin, James Walters; Big Pumpkin, Douglas Saucier; Announcer John Furey.

Last Friday all the elementary grades had Halloween parties in their rooms. Much fun and excitement was enjoyed by all.

The Halloween spooks and goblins have departed and the students of the Eighth grade with their sponsor, Miss Parker, are planning to redecorate their class rooms for the forthcoming Thanksgiving season. With attractive bulletin boards, blackboards, and some new plants and greenery they hope to make their class rooms more attractive by all.

THE MODEL CLUB

At the activity period Tuesday morning the Eighth Grade boys, with their sponsor, Miss Parker, organized a "Model Club." The following officers were elected: President, Grady Perkins; Vice President, Mike Demoran; Secretary, Raymond Strong. The purpose of the club is to make model airplanes, boats, cars, etc. The club will meet at the activity period on Monday and Wednesday of each week. The president appointed a program committee, Seth Crippen, Donald Byrd and Pat Glover. These boys will plan the programs for a month, then another committee will be appointed. Miss Parker hopes that the club will not only make model airplanes but help to make "model boys as well."

The library wishes to thank Mrs. Robert Bienvenu for the most generous donation of several volumes of fiction to the school's shelves. The books are current and by many famous authors, such as Daphne De Maurier and Edna Ferber. Now that book report time is rolling around again, the boys and girls will appreciate these new additions.

SOCIAL SCIENCE DEPARTMENT

On Wednesday of last week the Social Science classes were shown an instructional film "Beckfire" furnished by the Mississippi Economic Council. This film was well adapted to classroom use and presented an actual experiment which proved that the theory of Karl Marx cannot work out to the advantage of the individual.

Mr. S. J. Ingram, Superintendent of Bay St. Louis Public School, appeared on the program of District PTA last Friday morning to discuss safety education in schools with special emphasis on Driver Education for high school students. This talk was made at the request of Mr. A. P. Smith, member of the State Department of Education and who is head of the Safety traffic division in Mississippi.

The Bay St. Louis High School football team will play host to the New Orleans Academy team of New Orleans on Friday night, November 6 at 8 o'clock. These two teams have met in football over a period of years. The Bay High team has been successful in the competition with NOA and we hope that this will be another win that may be added to Bay High victory column.

DEAF CHILDREN WILL LEARN SPEECH AT NEW JAYCEE SCHOOL IN JACKSON

JACKSON (Special)—Deaf children are now being given the opportunity to learn to speak. An organized group of Mississippians has determined that such handicapped children will have a chance to lead normal lives and become useful citizens of the community.

This is only one of the techniques used. Others include group hearing aids, visual association with sound identification and by observing the formation of words as the instructor goes through drills of pronunciation.

Lack of speech is only one of the deaf child's main problems. Inability to hear the speech of the rest of his associates is cruel. For deaf children no horns blow, no dogs bark, and a mother's words of love go unheard.

A handicapped child must have a head start if he is to compete with normal children later on. This is why the Jaycee school stresses training of the pre-school child. A detailed study shows that the age of three is the best time for such a child to begin training. It is surprising to observe how aptly a child of this age will learn if that training is applied correctly by a specialist.

Even when parents know the proper training techniques, they are usually unable to give adequate time to the training of their children.

The Jaycee Speech School operated in Jackson during the summer and opens again this month. It is expected that from six to eight children will be enrolled. This is the maximum load for one teacher. As more children enroll, the facilities of the school will be enlarged.

LIVESTOCK WORM CONTROL
Controlling stomach worms in calves and pigs will make already scarce feed go further. Now is a good time to get rid of these worms.

Stomach worms cause most damage in calves four to eight months of age. They cause lack of growth, low of weight, rough hair coat and occasionally cause swelling under the throat.

Control these with ivermectin. It can be given the calves in feed as a drench or as a pour-on. Directions for using are on the container.

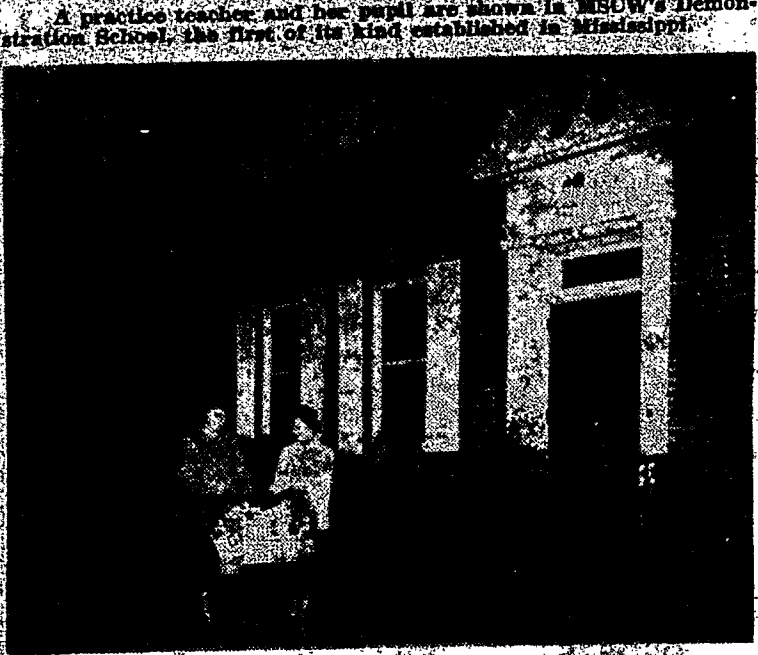

Worms that should be treated for are roundworms, pinworms, and lungworms. The roundworms should be given in feed. An additional treatment of ivermectin will give better results.

PASTURE PROTECTION
Ivermectin can be used to protect pastures from growing worm infestations. It should be applied to the grass before the worms start to grow.

DEMOCRAT-BAY HIGH GAME CALLED DUE TO MIXUP IN DATES

The Bay High and Democrat game was called off last Friday because of an error in dates. The Democrats traveled here Thursday night by mistake and were unable to return the following night. However, the game will be played November 20 at St. Stanislaus Stadium.

LITTLE ROCKS, PEE WEE'S STILL UNDEFEATED

Two undefeated teams remained unconquered as the Bay High Pee Wees and the St. Stanislaus Tiny Rocks battered to a 6-6 tie at the stadium here last week.

The Pee Wees scored first when Raymond Strong dashed 35 yards for a touchdown in the second quarter. In the fading minutes of play the Tiny Rocks scored twice as J. E. Lollano broke into the clear and raced 55 yards. Neither team could get their extra point.

The Pee Wees were the aggressors roughage and heavy concentrate feeding has never resulted in high production nor very profitable production for any dairy farmer whose milk is sold on average markets. Nor does it pay to feed high cost dairy feeds to dairy cows and then leave them out in the open on cold freezing nights or out in cold rainy weather.

Dairy farmers should study carefully their own feed supply and the selection of bought feeds. They should figure out just what feeds will best balance out the home supply at the least cost per 100 pounds of milk produced.

Meeting of All Blood Donor Committees Called For Monday Night

A meeting of committees for the American Legion sponsored blood donor listing for Hancock County has been set for Nov. 9. The committee will meet at 8 p. m. at the Legion Home on S. Beach.

Organizations indicating a desire to participate in the project include the Macons, Bay High PTA, Rotary Club, Knights of Columbus and Chamber of Commerce.

Purpose of the meeting is to form an overall committee to channel the efforts of all participating organizations. Medical authorities, local doctors and other interested groups are invited to attend the meeting and suggestions by them will be considered by the coordinating committee.

The personal disasters which befall two local citizens on the same day recently prompted the Legion to sponsor the blood donor listings. The lack of a ready blood supply was almost fatal to both. Last Friday the same disaster struck another local citizen when Mr. Henry Colson was rushed to the Gulfport Memorial Hospital in a state of shock and his condition required a ready supply of blood.

He stated France for leading on this German rearmament plan and stated that France should be told that the nation agrees to it or that we will arm them ourselves, as they are NATO. He felt that the American nation was a sacrifice from the people that Germany wished to be a part of NATO, and that the good effects of that action would be to prevent any other day's action. He stated that the day's action would be to prevent any other day's action.

Senator Stennis ended his speech by talking of his journey through the Holy Land.
